

Call for Papers on "The Future of Honors"

26 - 27 September 2014, The Honors College, Oakland University, Rochester MI 48309

What is the future of the Honors College in higher education?

How distinctive is honors education in today's universities, and how might it be so in the future?

How can honors programs/colleges meet the challenges in higher education over the next 10, 20, 30 years?

What is the role of undergraduate research in honor education?

Who are honors college graduates and what does this mean for honors education in the future?

How does honors in the USA relate to developments in supporting excellence in undergraduate education around the world?

These and other topics available for exploring! All welcome!

Call for Papers closes: 1 June 2014. Early submission is encouraged. Proposals will be peer reviewed. A title and 150 abstract is ample.

Submit proposals to: Prof. Graeme Harper, Dean, The Honors College, Oakland University: gharper@oakland.edu

 Presenter places are limited but participant places available until conference is fully subscribed **