- T-Shirt design submissions will be accepted until July 1, 2013 when the contest ends.
- The T-Shirt Design Contest only applies to the front of the shirt. The back of the shirt will be created by AASPA staff and will include the conference date and sponsors.
- The contest winner will receive free registration to the 2013 AASPA Conference in Alexandria, Virginia (including credit for all of the CME that the winner participates in at the conference). The contest winner will receive recognition for their design on the AASPA website, in the AASPA Sutureline Publication, on the AASPA Facebook page, on the AASPA Twitter account, and his/or her name will be mentioned for recognition during the opening remarks at the 2013 AASPA Conference.
- Submissions will only be accepted from Physician Assistants (certified, registered, and/or retired) and Physician Assistant Students (must be currently enrolled in an accredited program). The words "American Association of Surgical Physician Assistants" or "AASPA" need to be somewhere in the design.
- The AASPA Board of Directors will review all submissions and will vote as a group to decide on a winning design. If the AASPA Board of Directors believes that none of the submissions are suitable as a contest winner, then no design will be selected and the default T-Shirt will be given away a registration.
- The T-Shirt Design that is selected for the conference will NOT replace the current AASPA designs.
- These designs will still be available for purchase. The T-Shirt Design selected as the contest winner will ONLY be available to those who register for the 2013 conference.
- T-Shirts will only be provided to those participants who register before the deadline of August 15, 2013. After this time, t-shirts will be available for purchase by anyone in attendance at the conference.
