

The 41st ANNUAL ANATOMIC PATHOLOGY CONFERENCE WAS A HUGE SUCCESS!

The 2015 FSP Winter Meeting – 41st Annual Anatomic Pathology Conference – was held February 13-15, 2015 and was deemed a great opportunity for education, networking and the opportunity to meet the latest in products and services in the Exhibit Hall. Thanks to our residents – there were 40 Poster Presentations – all of high caliber. The vendors displayed the cutting edge tools and services for pathology laboratories, clinics and hospitals. Leica even displayed their mobile truck laboratory – very appreciated by all attendees.

The highlight of the program was, of course, the talks presented by William Travis, M.D., Jonathan Epstein, M.D., and Dale Snover, M.D. A tremendous level of education was delivered!

Physicians attending the meeting were able to secure up to 9 ACCME Physician 1 Credit hours. Attendees also have the opportunity to sit for the SAMS on-line examination within the next two weeks. If you attended the conference and would like to sit for the SAMS exam, please notify us at bbeatty@kmgent.com. We will also be sending out an announcement via e-mail. You will need a personal log-in to facilitate sitting for the examination.

Yes! The 2015 Annual Anatomic Pathology Conference was a success. We are now looking forward to the Summer Meeting which will be held at the Boca Raton Resort, Boca Raton, Florida and the 2016 Annual Anatomic Pathology Conference which will again be held at the Disney Contemporary Resort. Look forward to seeing you all at either, or both, of these great conferences!
